St. Joseph Catholic School October 2017 issue

Dear St. Joseph Families and Friends,
As our families and loved ones are preparing to dress as Spiderman, dinosaurs, athletes, princesses, and the Wizard of Oz, please pause to remember that this week is one of the holiest weeks in our faith.

On Wednesday we celebrate All Saints' Day when we honor those who have reached their goal of heaven. We believe that We are Called to Offer Our Best to God, and therefore that all students are capable of reaching their two goals of college and heaven. Students at St. Joseph Catholic School are working to become saints and scholars just like many of our ancestors.

On Thursday we commemorate All Souls' Day to remember those who have died. We pray for each of them that they are able to reach their eventual goal of heaven.

So as you and your families collect candy, carve pumpkins, and tell horror stories, please say a prayer for the saints and souls that we remember this week.

Blessings,
Mrs. Budd

Family Connection for Sunday, November 5, 2017

"Do as I say, not as I do." How many of us have been tempted to say this to our children? In today's Gospel we hear a resounding reply from Jesus, "Practice what you preach." Those who know us best, our family and especially our children, can identify the inconsistencies between what we want to teach and the example that we give. The challenge for all of us, especially for those of us who are parents, is to model with consistency the faith and the Christian way of life we wish to teach our children. As you gather as a family, talk about what it means to practice what you preach. Identify some examples of people you know who practice what they preach. What do you observe about these people? What do you admire about them? In today's Gospel, we hear Jesus talk about the importance of acting in ways that are consistent with our faith. Read together today's Gospel, Matthew 23:1-12. Talk together about ways in which your family might better practice the faith that you profess. Choose one action to take that will show your faith in action. Pray together that your family's faith will be shown consistently in your actions.
